BUILDING PARTNERSHIPS FOR GLOBAL LEARNING

31st ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

JUNE 2 – 3, 2017

HOSTED BY CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY, LONG BEACH

Welcome Message to the 2017 Annual International Conference of Phi Beta Delta Honor Society for International Scholars

Dear Phi Beta Delta Members and Friends:

I wish to extend my heartiest welcome to all of you at our 31st Phi Beta Delta Annual conference being held at the California State University Long beach. We have traversed full circle today as this was the place where Phi Beta Delta (PBD) was born under the leadership of Edward Blankenship (Director of CIE) and Karl W.E Anatol (Dean of Humanities) by inaugurating Alpha Chapter on February 27th, 1986. Both are travelling and wouldn't be able to participate in the annual conference but have sent their best wishes for the success of the conference.

I thank President Jane Close Conoley of the California State University, Long Beach, Dean Jeet Joshee, Associate VP for International Education and Dean of the College of Continuing and Professional Education and the Alpha Chapter of PBD here at California State University Long Beach for their willingness, extraordinary support, and dedication for hosting the conference at their campus.

The theme of this year's conference is Building Partnerships for Global Learning, which is a very significant subject to be addressed by the academicians and higher education sector. We have an excellent array of papers and poster presentation by faculty, students and staff who will be presenting at this conference. The theme of this year's conference is pertinent and cannot be any less important. The following quotation manifests its relevance: "Space as separation leads to differentiation; differentiation leads to disequilibrium, which can only be resolved by spatial interaction" (Randall Jackson, 2011). We live in a global economy where success and progress is dependent upon networking, interacting, sharing and learning from each other's experience, and building bridges to address overarching problems such as global poverty, education for all, and protecting the environment for sustainable development.

I am very honored to have been associated with PBD for the past one and half decade first, as a graduate student and then as a faculty. I am honored to have had the opportunity to serve as President of our Gamma Lambda Chapter at CSU San Bernardino and for the PBD at the national level. This has given me the chance to meet students, faculty, staff, academicians who have a burgeoning interest in promoting international education. The success of international endeavors cannot be complete without the generous support and encouragement of the University President and administrators and we have been very lucky to have that at our campus.

I am delighted to have had the opportunity to work with an excellent Board of Director's team who have passionately and tirelessly worked towards brainstorming and implementing new ideas, chapters and reactivating existing chapters. The PBD is young and is celebrating its 31st birthday. This wouldn't have been possible without the tutelage of our senior PBD members who have raised and nurtured it.

I like to thank our sponsors who have opened their hearts and contributed financially for making this conference an overwhelming success. Last, but not the least I wish to thank Dr. Paul Rich for his generous support establishing the Guillermo De Los Reyes Plenary Speaker Endowment, which will enable us to invite renowned speakers and scholars of repute at our conference.

This organization is a result of all your dedication and work at your respective campuses and at the executive office at CSUSB. Therefore, let's celebrate diversity and internationalization and help strengthen the partnerships in international education so that we can have a better and peaceful world.

Enjoy the conference, share your ideas and learn more about us at: <http://www.phibetadelta.org> and like us on Facebook <https://www.facebook.com/phi.betadelta>

Sincerely,
Rajrani Kalra, Ph.D.
President, Phi Beta Delta Honor Society for International Scholars
